

THINK WITH YOUR HANDS

Now Offering Think With Your Hands

What Can I Expect?

A “Think With Your Hands” workshop from Boundless Tenacity Consulting is a completely different approach to team engagement.

If you’re looking to foster teamwork and collaboration, dive deeper into your organization’s culture and communication, prepare for organizational change, examine your competitive landscape, or rethink your strategic plan, then let’s play! We’ll do it together... using LEGO®.

Out the window go the flip charts, slide decks and brainstorming sessions! Your team will think with their hands by building models and find their flow through a series of engaging challenges that enable them to unlock new ideas and take risks.

Think with your hands. Listen with your eyes.

Why Does it Work?

“Think With Your Hands” workshops use LEGO® SERIOUS PLAY® (LSP) materials and methodology, which are rooted in decades of research, positive psychology, and play theory. LSP is based on the belief in human potential and the conviction that each individual in the organization can contribute to discussions, decisions, solutions and results.

We know that people learn by doing, by being engaged and by creating something external to themselves (Piaget and Papert). We also know that allowing people the opportunity to experience flow – a state of concentration and joy – increases motivation and commitment (Csikszentmihalyi).

Work and play are not opposites. Play is a powerful mechanism for productivity and, when done with intention, can tap into creativity and imagination unlike anything else. Play can be used to capture abstract concepts and answer complex questions. LSP allows for exploration of the “real world” without fear of failure or consequences.

The Result?

When you "Think With Your Hands," you will have a team that is leveraging their total brain power. Transformative insights into your team and your organization. A new way of thinking about challenges and approaching change. Reimagined strategies to address an ever-changing landscape.

Let's Get to Work! Play!

Ready to play? Let us build a custom "Think With Your Hands" workshop around your objectives.

- Are you building a new team? Or seeking to strengthen an existing team through shared innovation and creativity? Let's bring them together.
- Do you need to disrupt stale thinking and break old habits? Prepare for change? Let's shake things up.
- Are you seeking a new strategic plan? One that is alive with breakthrough ideas rather than a stale plan that sits on a shelf? Let's build it... in LEGO®.
- Have something else in mind? No problem. Let's create it.

Let's put your talent into play.

When you build with your hands, you also build with your brain.
